Demands previously referred to the finance committee were reported back favorably and warrants ordered drawn. Request of C. W. Brashear for 60 days' extension of time for the completion of work on portions of Maple street, Orange street and Mary street, granted.

Report of plumbing inspector for March was received and filed, and requested that summary be published in the GLENDALE NEWS.

City marshal reported that the proprietors of the Glendale Planing Mill had been notified by former city attorney to muffle the gas engine at their mill, but had not done so.

The question of drainage of storm water from the East end of First street was referred to the city engineer, the street superintendent and the committee on board of public works.

Trustee Grant offered a resolution which was adopted designating the variety of shade trees to be planted on Orange Grove avenue. Same action taken in regard to Lomita avenue between Central and Glendale avenue.

An ordinance creating the office of plumbing inspector was taken up and passed first and second reading.

An ordinance creating the office of city electrician was read first and second times.

CAPTAIN WELLS' LECTURE.

The lecture given by Capt. James M. Wells last Saturday evening at the Odd Fellows' hall, was a great success from every point of view. The hall was filled with a large and appreciative audience, among which was noticeable a large number of G. A. R. veterans and many of the children from the schools. The lecture was given under the auspices of the civics committee of the Tuesday Afternoon club, Mrs. J. N. Witham, chairman, and the ladies are much pleased with its success financially and otherwise. Mr. J. C. Sherer acted as chairman of the meeting and introduced the speaker with a few appropriate remarks. The lecture was prefaced by the singing of "The Stars and Stripes Forever," by the children of the eighth grade of the grammar school, who rendered the familiar old patriotic song in a pleasing manner. The orchestra of the grammar school was to play one or two selections, but owing to the absence of one of their members, were unable to do so. Capt. Wells told his story of the escape from Libby in a delightfully entertaining manner, the general opinion of his audience being that it was a "thrilling story well told." He was one of the few of the 120 men who passed out through the historic tunnel and succeeded in reaching the Union lines, the majority of them being recaptured. We will not attempt to give a synopsis of the story, but advise any who may have an opportunity of hearing it told by the Captain in his simple and yet earnest style, to avail themselves of the opportunity. The old heroes of the civil war are rapidly passing away and it will be only a few years longer that the hearing from their own lips the story of their stirring actions, will be our privilege.

GLENDALE WINS THE TRACK MEET.

Glendale won the second annual suburban track meet by a score of 44 against 27 of its nearest competitor, Citrus. Stine won the most points to Glendale with 2 firsts and a second, and Walton second with 2 firsts and a third, with Kern third with a first and 2 thirds. Stine broke the school record in the 50 and 100-yard dashes while Walton broke the records in the mile and pole vault.

The 50, 100 and 220-yard dashes were run in heats. Stine easily won his heat in the fifty and when the finals were run won by a good margin. Time at 5:3.

The mile was a fast, hard race, won in the good time of 4:52:2.5. The first three men were bunched, while the fourth man was 100 yards in the rear. Walton got a third in this event.

Taylor won the 120-yard hurdles with Kern a good third. Time 1:58. Very few were knocked down as is usually the custom in a meet. In the 220 and 440, Glendale was unable to place.

The pole vault was under way during the mile and as soon as Walton had a little rest he went in and tied for the medal Boyd won and took the lead.

The 100-yard race was won by Stine from the speedy Jackson of Citrus, a colored entry, in the time of 10:3. Stine and Kern had it all their own way in the 220 hurdles. Stine slowing up on the sprint letting Kern get first.

The half-mile was won easily by Walton by 20 yards or more ahead of his nearest competitor. The first quarter was run in the fast time of 58 sec. Walton stayed about third until the 220-mark when he took the lead to the tape. The time was 2:13.

Davenport obtained a third place in the high jump which was closely contested.

The relay was run off in one heat of six teams. Glendale won from Compton who was second by about 2 yards. The men who ran for Glendale were Kern, Cotterall, Walton, Stine, in that order. The time, 1:39:4.5, was fast and about three seconds faster than last year. After the meet the medals were presented and the cup for the relay and also the banner went to the proud winners, Glendale.

ONE YEAR'S WORK.

The adaptability of our soil and climate to the requirements of the homemaker, is exemplified in the case of Dr. E. A. Belford, of Central avenue and Dryden streets, whose home on the corner of these streets is one of the features of this pleasant neighborhood. Dr. Belford gave up a lucrative practice in an Eastern city a year ago and came to California to try the effects of the "rest cure" on his nerves. Whether the doctor has any nerves left to speak of we do not know, but he is certainly in fairly robust condition, although his grounds belie the idea of any "rest" being indulged in more than the law requires. He was told by the neighbors that he would have to get a "professional" to put in a lawn for him to insure its success, but instead of doing that he set to work and put it in himself, the result being one of the neatest little pieces of clover lawn that we know of. He found the rose bushes and shrubbery neglected and in a sickly condition, but applied himself to the task of remedying this by vigorous and intelligent effort with surprising results in vigorous growth of bushes and shrubbery that charm the eye with their beautiful tints of foliage. The doctor is also in the poultry business to a considerable extent and has made it a success, although as an anti-rest cure it is unsurpassed.

BIRTHDAY SURPRISE.

Only once can one be sixteen! The fine birthday surprise planned by his mother for Charles Shropshire for last Friday night was in every way enjoyable and a complete success, despite a downpour with thunder and lightning accompaniment. Fifteen young people braved the elements, many of them members of the 8th grade, some from the High School, and all intent upon surprising Charlie and giving him, at his first party, the time of his life. A large part of the evening was spent in the rendition of school orchestra favorites, in which the majority of guests participated with spontaneous heartiness. Later many jolly games were played, among them a marshmallow game. Prizes were won during the evening by Wilmot McIntyre and Marie McDonald, and to the honoree fell the consolation, which proved to be a lemon!

When the big home-made birthday cake was cut it was found to contain significant tokens which contributed greatly to the fun. Sol Rehart drew a darning needle in his share, Clarence Dominy the dime, Anna Addison the gold ring, and Elmer Nelson the button.

REBEKAHS ENTERTAIN.

The Rebekahs entertained the Odd Fellows at the I. O. O. F. hall, Thursday evening. In point of numbers and enjoyment afforded it was one of the most successful affairs that the hall has ever witnessed. The visitors and their entertainers played cards, danced, or did nothing in particular, just as their fancies dictated. Light refreshments were served. The Rebekahs will be the guests next time.

Guests on Saturday at "Whispering Pines," the home of Attorney and Mrs. Edgar W. Leavitt on Glendale avenue, were old schoolmates, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Harvey of Santa Monica, their son Glen and niece, Miss Helen Morse.

EAGLE ROCK

ANNOUNCEMENT.

As we stated in our issue of March 27th, we want to make our Eagle Rock section a success, and are doing all we can to that end.

In order that the paper may be of the greatest benefit to the community it is necessary to have as large a circulation as possible, so that the church, business and society notices will be read by all the residents of the valley.

Our columns are always open for news or letters on live subjects, even if we do not agree with the views expressed.

It rests with our Eagle Rock patrons entirely to determine what the limits of its usefulness will be. We will do our part.—(Ed.)

Eagle Rock School

At the present time about eighty pupils are in attendance. Mr. Orid Laws, Jr., is principal and Miss Dodge assistant. There has been an increase of about 20 per cent in pupils during the last six months.

As a rule, popular teachers are not good instructors, but in our Eagle Rock school the exception proves the rule, for we can boast of an orderly progressive class of children who like their school and teachers and are enthusiastic about the form of self-government adopted by the principal.

The principal, Mr. Laws, conducts a Spanish class at his home once a week, for which he charges a small fee. Last week he invited any pupils of the school who would like to learn the Spanish language to come and take the lesson free of charge. Over ten of the children accepted this kind offer.

Miss Dodge, the assistant, has the arduous task of teaching children from the kindergarten to the fifth grade, and certainly deserves great credit for the way she manages to entertain, yet instruct those tots from five to nine years of age.

MR. EDWARDS TALKS ABOUT EAGLE ROCK.

Mr. Godfrey Edwards, senior member of the well-known real estate firm of Edwards & Wilsey, took a day off yesterday from the city office and had a look at the many tracts owned or handled by the firm in the valley.

Without doubt, Mr. Edwards is the greatest believer in the future of Eagle Rock that we have and is never tired of talking about its growing importance in Hollywood and other towns, eventually a rival of Glendale.

In a talk with Mr. Edwards he informed the writer that his firm had let contracts for street work, sidewalks, etc., amounting to over $50,000, all of which will be done this summer and is having plans drawn for a modern office building to be erected at the corner of Colorado and Central streets. This being the end of the Eagle Rock Glendale railroad, a waiting room will likely be included in the plans.

In giving credit for the wonderful growth of Eagle Rock, too much cannot be said for Mr. Edwards, but great credit is also due Messrs. Stinson, Shoemaker, Cook, Cowan, Ringman, Booth, Gates and many others who have backed up their opinion of the valley by large investments in land and houses.

In our next issue we expect to give a full account of the new building to be erected by the Ladies' Twentieth Century Club. Over $2000 has been raised by the members.

The monthly meeting of the Eagle Rock Improvement society will be held in Symphony Hall, Monday, April 5th, at 8 o'clock p. m. A large attendance is expected. The entertainment committee is arranging for several musical numbers during the evening.

CHURCH NOTES.

The Congregational church has been without a regular pastor for some time. Rev. Mr. Hare, who for the year past has preached for us at great inconvenience to himself, found it impossible to continue, as his other work in connection with the State Evangelical society needed all of his time. In the meantime we are dependent upon our neighboring minutes for supply.

Rev. Mr. Hawkins of La Crescenta gave a splendid sermon last Sunday evening which was enjoyed by all. The Church Society of the church, which was organized three weeks ago, held a meeting at Professor Cook's, on Hill avenue, last night.

The society includes all persons who are interested in supporting a church in our valley irrespective of their views on orthodoxy. Rev. Mr. Hare in organizing the society, said: "We want you to join the society if you believe the church is of use to the community." Over $800 a year was subscribed to pay a regular pastor.

RECENT REAL ESTATE SALES.

Edwards & Wilsey report the sale of 15 lots in their new tract, "Windemere Heights," last week; $6250. Seven lots in Ellenwood Heights; $4000. Two acres in Eagle Rock avenue tract; $2400.

Geo. Didcock reports the following sales:

One acre and lot fronting on Boulevard to D. O. McKee. The lot will be improved; $1700. One lot on Boulevard, and three lots in Windemere to Mrs. Clarice Ferris of Los Angeles; $1700. Two lots to Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Portman; $1000. Two lots in Stanley Heights tract to Mrs. Clara Kelum; $600; to be improved at once. One lot on Boulevard to Miss Margaret Knepper of Glendale; $550. Three lots to Dr. Cary of Pasadena; $1500.

NEW FIRM.

Mr. F. J. Stevenson, electrician of Chicago, seven years foreman for the Henry Ningard Co., of that place, has decided to locate in Glendale. The firm will be known as the Glendale-Eagle Rock Electric Co.

Mr. Stevenson has already completed several contracts in Eagle Rock and Glendale. His advertisement will appear in our next issue.

Miss Dunham and Mrs. Pope are going to enlarge and remodel their home on Park avenue. The plans proposed will make the place look very attractive.

Subscriptions, news items, church or society notices and advertisements will receive prompt attention if left with H. E. Tupper, corner Colorado and Central street, Eagle Rock.

E. G. Sanders has taken charge of the real estate office of E. Becker, at the corner of Colorado and Townsend streets. Mr. Becker will in future attend exclusively to his Spring street, Los Angeles, office.

Robert Law, the grading contractor of Eagle Rock avenue, started work on the excavation for a building corner of Colorado and Central street this morning. It will be necessary to remove over 1000 cubic yards of earth. This work will inaugurate the start of a fine business center at this point.

Mr. John T. Bailey's new home in Kenilworth avenue will be completed next week. The house, which has an east frontage, contains seven rooms, nicely arranged. The architect is to be congratulated on the pretty appearance of this ideal home. The cost was about $2750.

Mr. James Kincheloe of Rosemont has been very ill following an operation two weeks ago. Thursday the hospital physician was very hopeful of his immediate recovery. In the meantime his son, Allan, has been dangerously ill with pneumonia and is not any better at present writing. Mrs. Kincheloe has the sympathy of the community in her trouble.

Eagle Rock was represented in the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce excursion to Imperial valley, by Messrs. Godfrey Edwards and H. S. Bourne. They arrived home Thursday after a very enjoyable trip, greatly impressed with the wonderful work being done there and the fertility of the soil, but admit that the climatic conditions of this valley are good enough for them.

FOR SALE.

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

Gov. Gillette refuses to sign bill making vaccination of school children optional with boards of health.

Celebration at Yuma of completion of Laguna dam. Began three and half years ago, cost $3,000,000; will irrigate 120,000 acres.

James F. Smith, governor general of the Philippines will resign his position and sail from Manila for San Francisco, May 15th. Reported that he and President Taft do not agree.

A band of Indians in Oklahoma go on the warpath and are scattered by militia and volunteers. Probably the last Indian outbreak in the United States; therefore historically notable.

The peace of Europe assured by agreement between Great Britain and Austria in regard to Serbia. The terms favor Austro-German alliance and not pleasing to France, Russia and Great Britain.

One thousand white people of the best families of the city attended the funeral of Bob Goodwin, a one-armed negro at Montgomery, Ala., Sunday last. The dead man was a ferryman and had saved many lives.

In Calhoun case in San Francisco, the defense accused of having stolen important documents from the prosecution. In searching for them prosecutors detectives raid private offices of railroad officials and refuse to recognize restraining order issued by the court. Ordered now to show cause why should not be punished for contempt.

IMPORTANT TO AUXILIARY MEMBERS.

Following the organization of the choral class from the membership in the Woman's Auxiliary and wives of members of the Glendale Country Club, plans have been formulated for an especially interesting series of Monday musicals, of which the very delightful little affair of last Monday was the first. Introductory music consisted of some fine instrumental numbers and solo work that implied the fact that there is undoubted and delightful musical talent in the membership. It is to demonstrate this and to further enjoyment of connection with the club and auxiliary that these "Monday's" will be given. Therefore it is most important that prompt attention be paid the called meeting for Monday afternoon, April 5th, at the club parlors. Members are urged to attend. Mrs. Gibson at present of North Glendale, an able and experienced musician, will probably act during the recitals as conductress. The introduction of patronage to music has stirred a pleasing interest in the valley and growing popularity for the entire series is expected.

ROSE-BUDS.

An one-o'clock luncheon on Saturday at "The Bungle-O," Cedar street, was the occasion for the placing of eight hand-painted place cards about the table where purple iris, violets, maiden-hair fern and white satin ribbons were accessories, to the picture under the electric light which was completed with the addition of the "buds." To meet the complemented guest, Miss Gladys Green of St. Paul, Minn., and this winter in the University of Southern California, were Misses Emma Williams and Carrie Cunningham of North Glendale, Miss Annette Hooper of Tropic, Misses Catherine Clemons and Catherine Wells and Harriet Wells Gathorne. Miss Berenice Williams presided as hostess.

MURDER AND SUICIDE.

The daily papers have given the details of the shooting of Mrs. Austin near Burbank, Wednesday morning, by August Schoemer, a dairyman of Tropic. Mrs. Austin was a widow with one son, residing near Burbank. She had formerly lived at Tropic. Schoemer had been trying to borrow money from several people recently and the supposition is that having been disappointed in getting it from Mrs. Austin, who is said to have recently received a good sum from abroad, he became desperate, probably demented and committed the terrible deed. The bodies were brought to the Pulliam undertaking establishment and no inquest seems to have been considered necessary.

THE SALT LAKE COMPANY NOW HAS AN AGENT AT GLENDALE.

Our people will be glad to hear that at last the Salt Lake Railway company has stationed an agent at Glendale. We have no doubt but that their experience will prove to them the wisdom of this action. Mr. S. L. Atkinson is now in Glendale and will have an office in the freight depot on Glendale avenue and First street, where he will be able to size up the conditions and make such recommendations to his company as circumstances seem to warrant. Mr. Atkinson has been connected with the Rio Grande and Rock Island roads. He will move his family to Glendale as soon as he can secure suitable accommodations.

FREE POSTAL DELIVERY EXTENDED.

We are informed by Acting Postmaster McGee that the delivery service for Glendale has been extended to Adams street as far south as Ninth, and Ninth street west to Glendale avenue; also Second and Third streets in the Sinclair tract and vicinity, east of Verdugo Road. The readiness with which Mr. McGee and Supt. of Delivery Sheets acted upon a suggestion that this extension of service be made, is one of many indications given that every effort is being made to make this service satisfactory. Patrons along these streets are requested to hand in their street numbers at the postoffice if not already done.

STORM VISITANTS.

During the heavy storm of Friday evening the Hoo-Doos took it upon themselves to enter the bungalow home of Mr. and Mrs. Dominy on Brand Boulevard, but it was on them, for a royal welcome awaited the guests who seemed to prefer forked lightning to the tame light of the moon. "Whist" occupied part of the evening, and a bread diet the other part. Mr. Dominy since has been worrying over the gaunt and hungry appearance of his great thoroughbred St. Bernard, but the Hoo-Doos disclaim all knowledge of "the reason why."

DEDICATORY SERVICE.

The new First Christian church will be ready for the first service on April 25th and already plans for the day are about complete. The dedicatory service will be a beautiful one, under direction of the pastor, Rev. Utter. The special music program will be enhanced by the solos of a well-known Los Angeles singer, and the day will be one of great happiness to those who have worked and prayed for the establishment of this church home.

MR. AND MRS. E. A. McCOMBS ENTERTAIN.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. McCombs entertained their friends Monday evening last by a dance and card party given at the rooms of the Glendale Country Club. Smely's orchestra furnished music of more than usual excellence. Miss Clara Sledd sang a number of selections in a very pleasing manner which was highly appreciated. The decorations and refreshments were up to the high standard set by these entertainers on previous occasions.

ANOTHER NEW RESIDENT.

There is another member of the family of Mr. E. B. Valentine of East Fifth street that arrived last Monday morning. It is a girl and has been named Glen—had there been it and another, they would have been named Glen and Dale respectively—but the happy parents under the circumstances have done the best they could to prove their loyal feelings for the small city of their choice.

ADVERTISED LETTERS.

The following letters are held at the Glendale postoffice, and if undelivered April 6th, will go to the dead letter office: H. G. Bostwick, H. Ellrich, E. O. Olliver, Mrs. G. O. Kessler, Mrs. Nina Martin Pedars, W. Henry Polk.

THE BERRY GROWING INDUSTRY

The Tropic-Glendale Association Disbanded—Mr. Parcher Now Engaged in Another Field—Small Acreage Left

We learn that Mr. Wilmot Parcher has associated himself with the J. W. Beasley Berry and Produce Co. of Los Angeles, for the purpose of looking after the shipping of berries for them to foreign parts or to other parts of the State and to Arizona and New Mexico.

Mr. Parcher will be located or divide his time between Gardena and Baldwin's ranch, where this firm has some four hundred acres under contract. He will still make his home, however, in Glendale.

Mr. Parcher informs us that the berries grown at these places do not compare with the berries grown at Tropic and Glendale, especially those that have been grown in the past from good plant stock. One reason he says for the rapid decline of the berries grown here in the last year or two, over the former luscious qualities, was from the fact of planting inferior plants, that is, buying plants from fields that had grown a phenomenal crop for three years, because they could buy the plants cheap and then expect to grow a good crop. Mr. Parcher feels confident there is quite a future for berries to be grown in this valley yet, if they will only pay heed to two things, viz.: plant only the best grown Eastern plants, and not plant sufficient to make an over-production. He predicts that to those who have good fruit the coming season owing to so many acres having gone out, that they will get a good fair price. He estimates that the acreage for Tropic, Glendale and Burbank for this season will be about eighty acres compared with the hundreds of acres in the years just past.

MORE STREETS NEEDED.

The newly completed electric road through the eastern part of our city should result in a very rapid development of the section of Glendale lying along its course. Ultimately it will, we believe, lead to the building together of Glendale and Eagle Rock—but that is a year or two in the future. This writing deals with the present and with present practicable things.

Between Second and Third streets running eastward to within a few hundred feet of Verdugo road, the maps of record show a new street named Stanley avenue. Some of the property along this proposed street has been platted and the owners now and then sell a lot, but there is nothing noticeable in the way of the up-building of that section, although we believe it will not long be delayed. If the property owners at the eastern end of this section could be induced to join their neighbors on the west and put Stanley avenue through to Verdugo road, we believe this very attractive portion of our city would build up rapidly, as we understand that the majority of the property owners are willing to sell lots at very fair prices. Another project which needs reviving is the proposed road along the Childs tract line, east of Adams street. A road opened up through the whole length of the city along that line would throw a great deal of desirable property upon the market and would, no doubt, result in adding several thousands of dollars to the assessed valuation of our city. Without this road indeed it seems impossible that this fine section of our city should be anything other than an unprofitable acreage for years to come. Glendale will soon have all of its present streets in first class condition, and it behooves the property owners in other parts of the city who have not yet had the high privilege of paying for street improvements, to follow in the wake of their enterprising neighbors.

EXPENDITURES IN STATE LEGISLATURE.

As showing the result of the amendment to the state constitution adopted at the election of last November, raising the pay of state senators and representatives to $1000 per session, and limiting the expenditures for attaches to $500 per day in each house, the following from the Sacramento Union is of interest:

The thirty-eighth session of the California legislature did not cost within $19,347.27 as much as was put out by the thirty-seventh session in 1907. This amount may be cut off by $12,000 if the heating and ventilating plant ordered and expenses of the hold-over committee to investigate cost of living is included later in the cost of the last session. State Controller Nye has given out the following figures, showing the total amount paid out to date:

Thirty-seventh session in 1907.
Per diem, etc., senators, $21,494.80;
pay of officers, etc., senate, $17,120;
contingent expenses, senate, $66,477.73.
Total, $105,102.53. Per diem, etc., assemblymen, $41,172.40; pay of officers, etc., assembly, $22,457; contingent expenses, assembly, $96,566.59. Grand total, $265,298.52.
Thirty-eighth session, 1909.
Per diem, etc., senators, $41,628.80;
pay of officers, senate, $22,096;
contingent expenses, senate, $36,250.50.
Total, $99,975.60. Per diem, etc., assemblymen, $33,042; pay of officers, assembly, $23,126; contingent expenses, assembly, $34,807.65. Total, $145,975.65. Grand total, $254,951.25.

GLENDAL, CAL., APRIL 3, 1909

A WRITE-UP.

Last Sunday's Los Angeles Times contained a half-page write-up of Glendale which was rather better than those things usually are, in that it gives considerable information in regard to our city. The inaccuracies are of the kind that give us no cause of complaint and are the natural results of a hasty write-up. Altogether it is a quite satisfactory advertisement of our town and ought, to produce results.

Poor old San Francisco continues to be an example of how not to do it. Luther Brown, who is chief of detectives for the United railroads and well known in Los Angeles, is under arrest with some others, charged with stealing documents belonging to the prosecution in the Calhoun case; while detectives employed by the prosecution retaliated by breaking into the private offices of Calhoun and others. Respect for the law seems to be one of the last motives controlling officials and others in San Francisco.

The Board of Supervisors at last Monday's meeting refused to renew the liquor license of M. G. Verdugo in Verdugo Canyon. Application for one at West Glendale (Mrs. Bishop) was taken under advisement.

Hollywood people have gone systematically to work to have barley sowed on the vacant lots and so keep down the unsightly pests of weeds. Owing to the unusual late rains, it is not yet too late for Glendale to take similar action.

Ground has been broken for the erection of a club house at Sierra Madre, for the Woman's club. The cost to be $10,000.

Sierra Madre is to vote upon a proposition for a municipal gas plant to cost $33,000.

We are in receipt of a communication from the National Model License League of San Francisco. Presumably it is an organization of the liquor men of the state. It starts out by saying that "We are satisfied that what the public wants is reform and not prohibition, and if we can convince them that we are in earnest on this point, we will have in a great measure won over to our side a vast number of sensible thinking people who are now against us." There follows a platform of rules that shall govern the saloon business if the ideas of the league are carried out. The circular is interesting as showing that the liquor men are alive to the fact that the saloon business as conducted generally is a nuisance and a menace to society and that it will not long be tolerated. Up to this point we agree with our friends the prohibitionists. But because the moral sentiment of the people is so generally opposed to the liquor business as at present carried on, it does not follow that the only way to curb the evils of the traffic is to eradicate it. Out of the effort of the best element among the men in the liquor business to eradicate its abuses, may come in time a genuine reformation.

BE LIBERAL.

A valued friend of the NEWS desires us to call attention to what seems to be working a hindrance to Glendale growth and development. This, in the judgment of our correspondent, is the uncompromising adherence to a scale of prices for real estate which is just a trifle beyond what present conditions warrant. It is perhaps just a little unfortunate for the community that so many of our landowners (happily for them) are not under the pressure of any necessity for selling. But we cannot build up our town very rapidly if lot owners put a price on their property at a figure too high to induce any one to buy it, merely on the plea that "it will bring that in a year or two." The probability usually in these cases is that when the year or two elapses, the price will be shoved up another notch in order to still keep ahead of the buyers. The home builder should be accommodated in every way possible and conditions should be made to meet his reasonable desires. Owners of subdivisions can afford to sell one or more lots at very low prices if by doing so they can start a building movement in their neighborhood. It is fair to presume that the same practice in regard to prices of real estate, is in vogue in other towns than ours, but as we wish to get ahead of other places by any legitimate means, we may well afford to disregard any other example which encourages a shortsighted policy.

DID "THE PEOPLE" WIN?

George Alexander won out in the recall election Friday of last week as we predicted. What was not so easily predicted, however, was the large opposition vote given to the Socialist candidate, Fred C. Wheeler. The normal vote of the Socialist party as shown at the fall election is 4000, but Wheeler polled 12,262 to Alexander's 13,909. There has been and continues to be written a good deal of editorial nonsense about a "triumph of the people, etc." But the fact is that Alexander had a first-class political machine backing him and it is fair to assume that his supporters turned out almost to a man; while the opposition had no organization, spent very little money and represented only a small proportion of the real opponents of the recall and the successful candidate. It is equally foolish to hold the Republican organization responsible for the large anti-Alexander vote. Had that organization really made a business of defeating George Alexander, he would have remained in private life. Had the Republicans put up a good candidate for the place, he would have been elected beyond doubt. Now as not one-half of the voters participated in the election, and Alexander won by less than 1700 votes, it is apparent to any unprejudiced observer that the people who did not vote for him, being much more numerous than the people who did, should in all fairness be permitted to consider themselves "the people"—ergo—"the people" did not win.

THRILLERS AT CASA VERDUGO.

Casa Verdugo is bound to keep on the map, and although this great moral weekly has not been subsidized to assist it to do so, we feel bound in a neighborly spirit to do all we can to help it along. Any one who is inclined to doubt that things are doing up there needs only to watch the columns of the Los Angeles Times which ever and anon gives great sections of its space to chronicling the thrilling things that happen at this delectable foothill resort. First it was Charley Sow's mule that ran away with a cart and a section of an apricot tree—this was good for half a column and scare heads, then—Mr. Sow resigned as postmaster, another half column and more scare heads, and the postoffice department at Washington not yet heard from; when we get an account of the consternation created there by his unpatriotic action, it will be worth a page anyhow—in the Times. But the last and most thrilling thriller appeared in the same great daily one day last week, when the anxious world, standing alert, wild-eyed, open-mouthed, breathless to hear the next bulletin from Casa Verdugo, United States, was informed by the same reliable medium with the same recklessness of expense, that the birds from the little trees and the chaparral north of the Casa had descended in force, in swarms, droves, cohorts, columns of six and every other reprehensible way and were destroying everything green within the purview of their little vision. They began on the green peas in the green gardens, the green beans on the green trees, the green cabbages in the greenery and the green cucumbers in the green house, and at last accounts were planning a war of extermination on some green tenderfoot that were running at large in the neighborhood.

The next bulletin from the foothills is looked for anxiously by a waiting world. It may be necessary to establish an international relief bureau, in which event contributions may be left at this office to be disposed of at our discretion as to whether they shall go to the readers of the Times, our afflicted fellow mortals at Casa Verdugo or to Charley Sow, owner of the mule and ex-fourth-class postmaster.

A TRIUMPH OF PUBLIC OPINION.

The fact that the session of the legislature of California just adjourned has made a pretty decent record, is due not to a change in the personnel of its members but to a change in the positions taken and the tactics pursued by many of the members who have formed a part of former legislative bodies at Sacramento. The Republican organization which has not always in former times been careful to exert its influence on the side of good legislation, has in the session just ended, shown that it is willing to at least keep hands off when there is a popular demand for any particular measure. The professional politician is a wary individual and will not willingly allow himself to become unpopular. His one essential asset is popularity, and at all times he plays to the gallery, so that his stock in trade be not diminished. The passage of the anti-race track bill is the one excellent positive feature of the recent legislature's work, while its negative virtue was shown in the refusal to enact anti-Japanese laws. Practically the same law in reference to the race track evil has been up before the state lawmakers at the two previous sessions, and many members of the legislature who formerly opposed it, were this year willing to have it become a law. The leopard had not changed his spots, but public opinion had issued its mandate and its servants had to obey. The whole history of this piece of wholesome legislation demonstrates what we have always maintained, that the so-called reform measures, the initiative, the referendum, the recall, direct primary and all, are unnecessary; being but snares and delusions. When the people give up trying to work reformation by enacting laws that are fair to the promise and false in their application, and begin to intelligently exert themselves to control by more natural and legitimate means their public servants, we shall have in reality a government by the people. That we have not attained to the high ideal of self-government for which the founders of the republic laid so wise a foundation, is not the fault of the few in high places, but of the great mass of the people who have not performed their political duty, of which duty the mere casting of a ballot is not the supremely essential feature.

THE NEWS IN DEMAND WHAT IT INDICATES

The steadily increasing growth of our subscription list is gratifying as a matter of course and one feature of it that is especially satisfactory is the call from far away places for sample copies of this paper, usually followed by a subscription. We do not take full credit for this to ourselves, but attribute it mainly to the fact that Glendale is becoming known to the outside world. At one time Los Angeles was the only place in the country that was known to people at a distance. Then Pasadena came into prominence and today is in certain circles where the globe trotter circulates, as well known as the larger city. We do not yet claim that Glendale comes third in the enjoyment of this high distinction, but we are gradually and surely widening our circle of acquaintance and influence. The newspaper is to the discerning mind, an infallible index and reflex of the place in which it is published. Its columns indicate the conditions that exist in the community which it represents and for which it speaks. Its publishers naturally put forth its claims to consideration in the most favorable light; but it is not because of this that the reader distant from the place of publication, finds it an infallible barometer of conditions there existing. He finds out through its columns much about the social life of the place, the character of its amusements, the churches, the schools, the local "orders." He learns of its products, its industries; but more than anything else it indicates the business conditions. The reader can correctly gauge the extent, the number and the spirit that animates its business concerns. By glancing at the advertisements therein displayed, the enterprise of its business men can be correctly measured and the place which the paper represents will rise or fall to the estimation of the intelligent reader at a distance, in accordance with the showing which is made in the advertisements.

The call for sample copies of this paper from people outside our own neighborhood indicates clearly that we are getting rapidly into the limelight. It suggests also that our people should take a more lively interest in the medium that presents their daily life to a constantly widening circle of on-lookers. In the newspaper business here as in every other enterprise, we are handicapped by the close proximity of a large city. We have not only to compete with the overgrown daily papers of Los Angeles for circulation, but all sorts of petty advertising schemes are presented to our business men and are patronized to a greater or less extent at the expense of the newspaper which at all times is working for the interests of the community. And in the job department we are unfairly forced to compete with touts for Los Angeles concerns which take patronage from the home establishment. All of which indicates that the proprietor of a newspaper representing a community that is accomplishing much and hopes to do a great deal more, should have the loyal support of every one interested in that community, because of the fact that the newspaper is doing more for the community than any other single factor in its material upbuilding.

There came to us the other day one of our exchanges from a growing town in a nearby county, in the editorial department of which allusion was made with pardonable pride to the fact that in its collection of advertisements every business concern in the town except one, was represented! And this included the professions as well as the merchants. We regret that we cannot "point with pride" to a similar condition as applied to this paper. Readers at a distance must necessarily be informed that we still have business concerns in Glendale which do not consider it necessary to help support the home paper by their advertising patronage.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE—A REPLY!

March 31, 1909.

Editor GLENDAL NEWS:

"Dear Sir: In your issue of March 27th the Rev. James S. O'Neill makes a number of statements concerning Christian Science which show that he has been misinformed as to its teachings.

"To begin with Christian Science is just the opposite of pantheism. It teaches the allness of God in the sense that there is no other power, and teaches plainly that the universe is not God but God's creation governed and controlled by Him.

"The declaration 'there is no matter' is not meant to convey the idea that there is no universe, no trees, flowers or mountains, but that these are not material as they seem to be to the senses.

Christian Science teaches that all of these belong to God's creation, but as Paul reminds us, "we are looking at them through a glass darkly." In other words, mortals have a material conception of God's universe, manifested in decay and death, and it is this material conception that Christian Science seeks to destroy, so that we may behold all the glories of the universe even as God sees them. This is strictly in accord with scripture as recorded in 2 Cor. 4-18, "While we look not at the things which are seen, but at the things which are not seen; for the things which are seen are temporal; but the things which are not seen are eternal."

"Christian Science denies the reality of sin and disease only in the sense that they are not of God and consequently not eternal. It recognizes these conditions as a part of mortal existence and teaches that they must be overcome and destroyed and imparts the spiritual ability to do this.

"Christian Science is not primarily a school of physical healing, but is a religion, the religion of Jesus, and is based wholly upon the Scriptures. It does not deny the atonement, resurrection and ascension. On the contrary, it emphasizes these most important factors in the salvation of mankind.

"The physical healing occurring in Christian Science is only the evidence of the spiritual purgation that is taking place in the life of the patient. While those healed in Christian Science are grateful for the physical restoration they treasure more highly the spiritual uplifting that is its inevitable accompaniment.

"That Christian Science has correctly interpreted the teachings of the Master is clearly proved by doing the works that he said would follow true belief. In John 14-12 it is promised, 'He that believeth on me, the works that I do shall he do also.' It is sometimes said that this promise applied only to the disciples but this error is instantly dispelled by the instructions to the disciples as given in Matt. 28, 19-20, 'Go ye therefore and teach all nations . . . teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you.'

"Christian Science is striving to obey these commands and is succeeding in a very large measure. Multitudes of hopeless invalids have been restored when all human aid had failed. Slaves to appetite, drugs, alcohol and tobacco have been liberated. But best of all these redeemed ones have been made consecrated Christians daily striving to assimilate the divine nature.

"Sincerely yours,

"WILLIAM BROWN."

THE BRIDGE ACROSS THE "WASH" AND A GRAND EUCALYPTUS AVENUE.

To the Editor:

Give "honor to whom honor is due," credit where it belongs. That is my motto. I am not entitled to the exclusive credit for securing the monster petition for a substantial rustic bridge across the "Wash" on Louise street.

Messrs. James Wyvell, P. A. Kranz, R. C. Sternberg, J. Q. Song, Henry Reif and others did yeoman service in getting it up. Judge Mather of Los Angeles originated the idea gave it impulse. I gave it momentum. I couldn't help that, though. I am built that way.

In itself I will add a bridge across the "Wash" affects every business interest in Glendale. But the "Wash" itself is the central feature of the Glendale situation. It is there to stay forever. A mighty flood rushes down VERDUGO HILLS with every heavy rain. It must be kept within that channel to prevent flooding the lower levels even down to Tropic, as was once its wont. An open stone (or cement) drain needs must be put in there. The last legislature vested full power in the county boards of supervisors to make storm drain districts for that purpose. It behooves all GLENDALERS to push that measure also; securing thereby a permanent channel. By laying out a 40-foot eucalyptus avenue, too, from VERDUGO HILLS to the Los Angeles river, on each side of the "Wash," our people will not only secure a permanent channel against all storms but will add to the Glendale situation a most unique and picturesque park boulevard of inestimable

EXPLAINS ITSELF.

Jacksonville, Fla., March 18, 1909.

To His Honor the Mayor of Glendale:

Dear Sir: Our city and state of Florida are at this time preparing to lay a large amount of streets and roads and we have had our attention called to the many advantages claimed for asphalt oil. We have had considerable correspondence with the Petrolithic Paving Company, 236 Pacific Electric building, Los Angeles, Cal., and they mention your city as one that has made a success of such pavement. And we shall be greatly indebted to you if you will send us such evidence as will show us that we might expect from its use based upon your success in laying roads and streets in your section and city.

Thanking you in advance for the great favor I am asking, I am,

REV. G. S. FACKENTHAL LEAVES ST. MARKS.

The many friends of Rev. G. S. Fackenthal, both within and outside of his congregation, learned with regret a few days ago that he has been ordered by the Bishop to take up work in a larger field, at Escondido, Cal. During the year of his pastorate here he has accomplished much for St. Marks, notably in the addition to its property of the fine guild hall on Third street, which would not have been in existence save for his energetic efforts. It is to be hoped that in his new field of usefulness he will achieve success both spiritual and temporal, and that he will keep in touch at least with the friends he has made while here. On Thursday evening a large number of the members of his congregation and many others tendered him an informal tribute by gathering at the guild hall, where the evening was spent in social intercourse, interspersed with music and refreshments.

The last, but not the least feature of the pleasantly informal affair was the presentation of a purse to Mr. Fackenthal, containing a substantial testimony of esteem. The recipient responded most feelingly, expressing his regrets at having to leave this field, thanking his friends for their expression of appreciation and commending to them his successors.

SECOND ANNIVERSARY.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Dunham of Central and Park avenues, celebrated their second anniversary of their marriage at their home, Wednesday evening. The parlors were brightened with red and white decorations, and the dining room where a dinner was served was pretty with its decorations of red roses and fragrant orange blossoms. Covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. Charles Goff, Mr. and Mrs. George Peterson, Mr. and Mrs. James R. Maxwell, Mrs. Emma Griswold, Los Angeles, Robert Goff and Edwin Goff.

JOLLY UNCLE JOSH

Great Generosity Toward a Newly Wedded Niece.

REAL LIVE GLENDALE ROMANCE

Business Men Are Leading Characters.

NO TERROR TO OLD BACHELORS NOW.

Find an Uncle Josh and Wade In.

"Miss Summers—Polly—I—I—er—dare I—?" But the speaker took a header over bashfulness, only to hear a sweet

"Yes, Charley."

"Can I aspire to—to—that is—"

Again a lapse into silence, followed by an encouraging

"Yes, Charley."

"Oh, if I might only hope to—to—"

Another failure of language. It was seemingly a hopeless case, and might have been only for a demure—

"Charley, I have said 'yes' twice, and if you mean it, too, and—"

And to this day that young man will insist that he popped the question.

All this happened away "down east," and it wasn't long before there was a wedding. Not much longer before there came a letter from Polly's Uncle Josh, out here in Glendale, who wrote offensively of his delight at her exhibition of what he called "grrit," and he proposed that if the young people would locate at Glendale, he would start them up in life, as a wedding gift, providing they were on hand by April 3rd. Of course they accepted, and were soon bidding their friends adieu.

The first of this week a travel-stained party arrived in Glendale. Our friend, Uncle Josh, was in charge, and he led the party straightway to a hotel. "The Vert-mont," said he, "is a typical American hotel of the best class. I have known F. I. Marsh, the proprietor, for years and he is mine host after mine own heart, endowed with that delightful intuition which makes a guest feel at home, and, in addition, a mighty good luck."

While the cuisine is all that a superior chef and unlimited orders on the market can make it. I have engaged rooms here until your own house is in readiness."

"After breakfast," said the old man, "I am ready to go buy your outfit. To expedite matters I have ordered a carriage from The Glendale Stables."

When the handsome carriage, with elaborate trappings and prancing horses, drew up in front of the hotel Polly declared it the "finest turnout she had ever seen."

"Yes, Sir-ee," replied Uncle Josh, "the three 's's', Speed, Safety and Style, is Mr. Pierce's coat of arms. So, young folks, when you want to take a drive, either for business or pleasure, go to him for a rig every time. His wedding party and funeral equipments are unsurpassed."

"Where to?" asked the polite driver, as the trio entered the conveyance. Uncle Josh looked askance at his wards.

"Oh, goodness knows; there's lots to buy," remarked Polly. "Then suppose we buy 'lots' first, quoth Charley, without turning a hair. Uncle Josh saw the point and started for The Overton Realty Co.'s real estate office, remarking on the way, "I can always depend on The Overton Realty Co. for bargains in real estate, as they never hold out false lures to induce people to buy. What they tell you about property may be set down as solid facts. They control a large list of desirable residences as well as ranch properties, and their judgment on the 'good things' is par excellence."

The party was not long in making a dicker for a nice house in Glendale and an orange ranch which Charley considered a splendid investment.

"Having provided you with a cage for the bird," said Uncle Josh, "now the first thing we'll look after will be the furnishings for it." Hereupon Polly energetically declared that she had heard so much about The Glendale Furniture Co. that she had decided to go there. The result was that they were ushered into such a bewildering display of bargains that the girl was at first at a loss how to select. But she soon yielded to the seductiveness of a bed room set in oak, antique finish that would do credit to old Antiquity himself. To this she added an easy rocker for Uncle Josh, and didn't forget a most convenient and ornamental writing desk for "hubby" Charley.

"A pretty good start," said the old man, "and now we'll go to C. H. Allen's big hardware and stove store. Here Polly's housewifely instincts had full play in marvels of kitchen apparatus."

"There is not an establishment in the country that carries a more comprehensive stock of household furnishings," remarked Uncle Josh. "Every possible piece of kitchen furniture from a tin dipper to a cooking range is here in all styles and variety."

If Polly fails to accomplish wonders in the culinary art, it will not be for want of superior cooking utensils, for she purchased a Snyder and Baker range with all equipments needed in a well regulated kitchen, besides a Perfection oil stove and a refrigerator for summer use. All of which Uncle Josh paid for with delight.

"Strange, now, ain't it, how one thing brings up another," sentimentally remarked Polly. "Carpets and rugs, you know, are of great importance."

"Oh, well, my young lady, it won't take long to settle that matter," replied Uncle Josh. "The Glendale Furniture Company can show you more handsome floor coverings than could be found in a day's journey, sold at moderate prices, too," besides linoleums and matting, of which Polly selected enough for every room in her house, together with draperies, lace curtains and such.

"Oh, say, Uncle," exclaimed Polly, "where can I go for dry goods? This dress is hardly suitable, I must admit."

"Well, my girl, if you want to select from the most popular establishments in the city, I will direct you to The Suburban Dry Goods store, who carry a stock of summer dress goods that for variety and real value is seldom seen outside the largest metropolitan cities. The store carries all the latest weaves in fashionable hosiery and laces, while you are sure to be guided right in your selections. You will find Mr. Walker pleasant to deal with, and his wife polite and expert, while the prices cannot be duplicated. This store shows the latest shades in spring ribbons. Beauties, I tell you what."

"Let's see—I promised you a gold watch, didn't I?" queried Uncle Josh of Polly, "and W. M. Wright, 316 Brand avenue, is the man to sell us one cheap." Entering the popular jewelry store the old man gallantly acquitted himself of the promise and then directed Polly's attention to the superior stock of silverware carried by the house.

"There is no other such house in town," said the old man, "and I will guarantee the quality to be the very best. Pick out your family clock, while here," he added, "Mr. Wright carries a magnificent line. Don't forget another fact," he continued, "if ever you unfortunately need a pair of specs, this is the place to come. He has everything required, to improve defective eyes; and say, my boy, remember these folks are also expert doctors on sick watches."

While Uncle Josh was pondering where to go next, Polly suddenly asked: "Uncle, where can I find the leading millinery establishment?"

"Just a few doors further on at the corner of Fourth and Glendale," replied Uncle Josh, "and we will visit E. Mae Mitchell, who, by the way, has on hand one of the complete stocks of millinery to be had in the city. You can get what you want there, the latest styles and lowest prices being for motto. Years of experience guarantees that when you have purchased of Mrs. Mitchell you have the thing according to fashion and a satisfaction that your work has been done by a competent artist."

In a few hours there never was a happier girl than Polly, for her spring hat was a perfect dream of loveliness.

After this visit Uncle Josh suggested a resort to some place of refreshment. At the table the old man waxed philosophical. "Never neglect your larder," said he. "That important adjunct to housekeeping controls masculine temper. To that end you must patronize a grocer on whom you can depend for honest goods. In every transaction I have found Peterson & Co. perfectly reliable. You will find them careful dealers, all ways fully stocked with every possible thing in the line of staple and fancy groceries, fresh and first-class, no shelf worn goods there, while the prices are down to brass tacks. To keep peace in this family, get all your groceries of Peterson & Co. They are located in the Hurtt block."

"And in the matter of insurance," continued Uncle Josh, "that is of importance. You want a 'Polly-icy' on your new house of course, and my old friends The Overton Realty Co., not only has lines of the solidest and best companies but they are expert and trustworthy underwriters. They have a large number of companies, all of which belong to the old reliable category, being well known for their prompt and satisfactory adjustment of losses. It's better to be safe than sorry and you'll surely be safe in the agency of the Springfield Fire Insurance Co. of Springfield, Mass."

"Yum, yum," laughingly escaped from Polly's rosy lips, as she glanced into The Glendale Ice Cream Parlor's attractive confectionery store. "Uncle Josh, you know I've got a sweet tooth, and those homemade candies look so nice I just can't resist the temptation to go in."

Charley here objected, "because he knew if Polly got into a confectionery store once, there's where she'd likely want to stay. He related, however, when he remembered that Uncle Josh was "settling" all the bills, so he went, and the girl loaded up on sweetmeats galore, while all three indulged in delicious ice cream and ice cream soda, which Charley declared surpassed even the dreams of an epicurean god. Polly was a splendid judge of sweetmeats, and she indulged in a profuse, but nevertheless altogether just compliment to McCormack & Christ's, 323 Glendale avenue, confections.

"Oh, me! Oh, me!" ejaculated Polly, as they halted before a show window, "what a perfectly lovely Oxford."

"Yes," says Uncle Josh, "J. C. Pierce & Co.'s stock can't be equalled in style and extent in this section. Go in, look it over, and get acquainted. It might have been policy not to have extended that invitation, had not Uncle Josh known what wise economy it is to trade at Pierce's, for Polly found goods and prices so seductive that she purchased an outfit from an Oxford tie to a handsome walking boot. Charley invested in gent's fine shoes, while Uncle Josh indulged in a stout farm boot, with rubbers for the crowd. No one needing footwear can resist the styles and prices offered by J. C. Pierce & Co."

"I declare, Uncle," exclaimed Charley, "there goes a handsome harness! I must have one like that for the car."

"Get it right down here at C. H. Allen's. This is the boss horse millinery firm of this section, to my notion. They use only first-class material and give personal supervision to the minutest detail of manufacture. There is nothing in harness but can be had of them—heavy and light, single and double, plain and fancy, work and buggy harness. You can get 'em there, besides every other kind of turf goods imaginable and the finest lot of lap robes, whips and sundries you ever laid your eyes upon."

After a visit to Allen's Charley said he thought "if a man couldn't get satisfied it would be his own fault," and he expressed himself pleased with the fine harness Uncle Josh bargained for.

At this point, somewhat to the confusion of Charley, the old man indulged in a half serious criticism of his personal appearance. "You are decidedly off style for a townsman," said he, "and we'd better go see W. S. Walker about some new duds."

After Charles had fitted himself in new underwear, etc., Uncle Josh declared: "Now you look like a newly married man."

Before leaving, having found goods and prices irresistible, Charles also invested in a complete outfit of gent's furnishings, from the latest style hat to a neck shirt.

"And now, young man, let me give you a pointer," remarked the generous old uncle. "Do not understand me to say that clothes make the man, but I do affirm that clean and spotless linen makes the nice appearing man. Now, in this connection, I am happy to inform you that the Glendale Steam Laundry is one of the best laundries in the state. Grady and Davis, the proprietors, will see that your collars, cuffs, and shirt are made white as snow unless they happen to be colored, but then you needn't be afraid of a fade, for they pride themselves on doing colored goods satisfactorily."

"By the way," exclaimed Uncle Josh, with a paternal air, "the next thing to look after is the lumber for those improvements which are also ceded by all to be the finest on earth. Remember, Charley, there is no use of your 'ootsy tootsy' bothering herself much about baking, so long as there is a good baker in town like M. A. English. When you give your reception call on him for the fancy cakes and other good things."

"Yes, and while we are on this important topic of gastronomy, we must not forget meat. It goes hand in hand with bread. Now to locate a meat market where you can get fresh, wholesome meats at all times. R. S. Jones is the man to supply you. This is the boss meat market in the city and is popular with everybody who is particular to have the best. The reason for this is all because Mr. Jones is very careful in the selection of stock and gets the freshest of everything and keeps nothing but the very best. To keep your 'hubby' in good humor, Polly, trade at this market every time. He is located at Third and Glendale avenue."

En route to their home the party called at the News office. "You'll want the news every day," remarked Uncle Josh, "and as this is the only paper here, I'll subscribe." (Adv.)

PLEASANT AT HOME.

"At 'Bide a Wee,' the charming home of Mrs. H. Goodsell, Saturday, on Palmer Drive, Mrs. Goodsell, assisted by her daughter, Miss Julia Goodsell, entertained a coterie of friends with a pleasant at home. The rooms were brightened with an artistic arrangement of fragrant blossoms and trailing greenery. Guests included Mrs. Alfred Engelhardt, Mrs. J. R. Dunham, Mrs. J. J. Edleman, Mrs. J. H. Henry, Mrs. John Kirkham, Mrs. J. R. Hooper, Mrs. C. R. Clemmens, Mrs. E. M. Borwick, Mrs. Joseph Marple, Mrs. George Claver, Mrs. R. S. Bullock, Mrs. W. J. Ingram, Mrs. A. M. Watson, Mrs. J. R. Maxwell, and Miss Mary Lindsey.

PRETTY LUNCHEON.

Mrs. Joseph H. Webster and Mrs. Edward M. Lynch entertained with a buffet luncheon and thimble party at the home of Mrs. Webster, "Ivy Nook," Friday. The favors were dainty Easter cards, bearing a suitable inscription, and knotted with a dainty cluster of yellow ribbon. Throughout the house poppies and English ivy were arranged. The guests present comprised a long list of Tropic's most prominent people.
